

IPB's Stand at the University Day Out Exhibition of 2012 in Banten

<http://news.ipb.ac.id>

Posted by admin on 09 February 2012

Thousands of high school students especially of Grade 12 in the region crowded the Center for Research and Technology Building to visit the University Day Out Exhibition 2012 held by the Student Family of Banten (22/1). IPB's stand was crowded with visitors. Not a few students who stopped by the stand were amazed when they were introduced to a variety of innovative products of IPB.

Various products on the display were for example herbal drinks such as temulawak (a kind of ginger), sacang, ginger, rosella tea, cosmetics products such as aromatic soaps, massage oil, as well as agricultural educative dolls "Horta". Crystal guava was also presented, an innovative product of IPB in collaboration with ICDF of Taiwan.

Not a few students visiting exhibition are interested to be students of IPB. For example, Anggis Khairunisa of SMA 1 Cilegon wants to enter the Faculty of Agricultural Technology of IPB.

Another is Deanisa of SMAN 1 Rangkas, who without mentioning which Department she is interested in confidently says that she will soon come to IPB campus to become a new candidate of IPB students.

Furthermore, the students belonging to the Region Student Organization (Omda) IPB was so attractive and communicative in responding to the questions from younger students at the exhibition. They were very pleased to get a souvenir after they answered the questions forwarded by Omda IPB. (Mtd)