BECOMING A WORLD CLASS UNIVERSITY QS & IPB WORKSHOP

BECOMING A WORLD CLASS UNIVERSITY QS –IPB WORKSHOP

Thursday, 21 August 2008

9.00am to 2.30pm

IPB International Convention Center

National higher education in Indonesia is growing rapidly and should be moving quickly towards globalization. Most of the universities have their own vision to be world class university. The Ministry of National Education of the Republic of Indonesia, through the Directorate General of Higher Education always gives generous support for all the attempt to achieve the vision. In general, there are three major criteria for world class status, those are 1) excellence in the education of their student, 2) research, development and dissemination of knowledge and 3) activities contributing to the cultural, scientific and civil life of society. Thus evaluation for world class university should consider about institutional characteristic, instructional quality, research quality and student quality. To look at the achievement of the universities become world class university, there are two main studies of the international ranking, the Time Higher Education – QS World University Ranking, and the Shanghai Jiatong University.

We believe that your institution is one of the best universities in the world. If not yet, it because you don't know yet the new methodology applied. In a continuing effort to refine the measures used in the rankings, QS have recommended some subtle but significant changes to both the methodology and the data collection approach that have been embraced by THE and will have an impact on 2007 result and beyond.

This seminar will present vital information about rankings, research performance evaluation, benchmarking, and innovative solutions that are being developed to enhance your university's competitive edge.

As competition for academic prestige further intensifies, academic institutions find themselves facing increased pressure to achieve international distinction in teaching and research performance. Jointly organized by the Ministry of National Education, IPB and QS, the "Becoming a World Class University": a one day Workshop aims to assist Indonesian university leaders in strengthening and sharpening their approach to competing in the global arena.

Targeted at Indonesian University Rectors, vice-Rectors, deans and other top planners of university strategy and policy, this workshop provides important insights into the university ranking process coupled with an introduction to tools that assist in evaluating the standing of your university and in formulating plans to improve the standing.
